

As our company name indicates, the development and the production of wire harnesses is our main sector of our product range.

Using the term we are talking about the complete connection of all electric and electronic components in the vehicle that use electrical voltage and signals.

The wire harness itself can be described as more apparent as the vehicle's "electric veins". Without it, security systems such as ABS, ESP, Airbag or comforts such as seat heating, electric windows, air conditioning or parktronic will not work.
